STAR-BULLETIN INDOOR TEAM TRIMS THE 'Y'

Good Baseball Contest Last Night in Games Hall of Y. M. C. A.

Last night in the Games hall of the Y. M. C. A. the Star-Bulletin champion indoor baseball team took a picked team into camp by the score of 5 to 3. The game was fast and interesting, with S. W. Robley pulling for his Star-Bulletin Boys, and Glen Jackson bating the "Y" players.

The "Y" scored one in the first, when Auerback doubled after the first two up had fanned, stole third and came home on a passed ball. T. Decker singled in the fourth, but was out stealing second. Auerback struck out and Kahn drove the ball to the outfield for two bases. Chong singled, sending Kahn to third, and K. Decker brought him home with a single. Hay ended the inning, striking out.

The "Y" boys got their last run in the ninth. Kahn, the first man up, was passed, Chong struck out, K. Decker got a free pass, Hoy fouled out, and L. Camacho, with two strikes and no balls, made his first hit of the game, sending Kahn home, while K. Decker was declared out by Umpire Melim for not touching the home plate, thus ending the game.

F. Tyau for the Star-Bulletins scored their first run in the fourth on a passed ball from third. In the fifth Lam got a base on balls, stole second and came home on Hen Young's hit. Anahu opened the sixth by striking out, but was safe at first when the catcher failed to hold the ball. Tyau singled, scoring Anahu, and came home a moment later on a passed ball. The Star-Bulletins' last run came in the eighth, when Anahu started them off with a single, Young out at first on a grounder, Tyau sacrificed him to third, and Lam sent him home.

The fielding features of the game was the fine catching by F. Tyau and a great jumping catch by Tedo Decker in the third. Victor Kahn saved the "Y" boys at least two runs in the sixth by a one-hand stop and throw while off balance.

A. Camacho for the "Y" struck out 15 men and held the Star-Bulletins to five hits, while Hen Young was touched up for eight hits and struck out 14 men.

KAUFF WILL STICK TO FEDS.

Track Outfielder Turns Down Offer From New York Giants.

Benny Kauff, outfielder of the champion Indianapolis Reds and king batsman of that league, will not desert the Indians to cast his lot with Johnny McGraw's Giants, as has been intimated in reports from alleged reliable sources. It is unlikely that the Federal league would allow O. B. to outbid it for the services of so bright a star—the very brightest, in fact, to the current circuit.

Benny is the Ty Cobb of the Federal league and recognized by his employers as such. Could the Federal league put up enough money to win over the great and only Ty? Perish the thought!

Duke Kahanamoku, the great swimmer, and Hackenschmidt, the Russian wrestler, both claim that a great deal of their physical perfection is due to sleeping on hard boards with but scant covering. At that rate a lot of our gods who can sleep soundly on the deck at most any time, with a pair of shoes or a ditty box for a pillow, ought to make good athletes.—Our Navy.

HIT OR MISS IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

MANAGER HERZOG of the Reds will make a radical change in the fixed rules of baseball. He intends to shift each infielder five feet to the right of where he ordinarily stands.

"I am convinced," said Herzog, "that I can make the move. It's a risky risk to take, but the practise to date has made it seem a cinch to me."

"Mollwitz, at first base, will average five feet farther down the path and toward second. Olson will play five feet nearer second base, but correspondingly outward on the grass. I shall then five feet down toward third and Groh, at third, will take a position five feet nearer his station, almost on the dead line with the bag, but deep into the left garden, to balance."

"I think the shift will work out perfectly and save a lot of close games this summer."

MEN who are enrolled as students in the Emporia, Kan., normal school for physical training, in the future will be required to play baseball. No student will be excused from a certain amount of work on the diamond.

"We expect to give the man who is studying to become an instructor some training in baseball," said C. K. Turner, head of the physical department of the school. "Then, when he goes to take up his work in the schools the physical instructor will have a definite idea of America's greatest pastime."

M. R. GET-RICH-QUICK WAL-LINGFORD has nothing at all on Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion, and well known in the Northwest as manager, according to reports from New Orleans, where Burns has started up in the fight business again. Burns is claiming the admiration of the Eastern sport writers for his ability to show the numerous promoters in and around New Orleans how to gather in the kale—and is being billed as the man who sent Tom McCarney back to the coast.

When Burns invaded the Southern Mississippi city, there were several clubs of no great seating capacity. Some of these promoters were flurrying, not flurrying fast enough, on big arenas. McCarney had come from Los Angeles to talk with business men who threatened to build a club house for him. Burns did not confer or figure. He just went out and found an open lot, just off the canal, about six blocks from the center of town. Then he grabbed. This lot was already fenced. Burns built circus seats on all four sides, and left a little space between the front barriers of these, and the ring platform. Then you get a ring side seat, you pay $3 to sit on a chair whose legs rest on mother earth. There is no concrete flooring. There you look up and see the stars. There is no roof. The circus seats all about you sell for $2 and $1. Special section, of course, is set aside for negroes. One night Jim Johnson and Willie were announced as matched, and advertisements put in the papers that Tommy Burns was going to pull a show. There were 4000 on hand.

BITS of wisdom and common sense from a speech delivered by Willie Ritchie to a small audience, which included his twice conqueror, Fred Welsh, the present champion:

"If I get Welsh in another match it will be the last one I ever make. Win or lose, I will retire after that."

"I consider that every time I train for an important battle it takes two years off my life. I like to live and intend to as long as I can."

"This match I am seeking with Welsh is not one of revenue, but to prove to the world at large that a mistake was made in London."

"To rise from a nobody to a man of independent means is something. I have done it. So have Packey McFarland, Fred Welsh, Ad Wolgast, Johnny Kilbane and many others."

"That's why I say that I owe the boxing game almost my life. And I will do anything in the world to help boxing, which I insist is one of the cleanest and most manly of sports."

"The man who says it is a rowdy game and made up of rowdies can be set down as a man who isn't acquainted with his subject."

"It made a man of me. When I was 16 years old I weighed only 100 pounds and they didn't know whether I ever would grow up."

A jury in the United States district court in Trenton found the Central Railroad of New Jersey guilty of re-bating.

FROG SHOOTING LATEST TEST OF NERVE AND SKILL FOR OFFICERS

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, April 9.—The hunters of Schofield have recently developed a form of the chase which has heretofore obtained little prominence in the sporting world. Bullfrogs have never been protected to any extent by the game laws, as neither the bird hunters nor the fishermen have considered them worthy of notice. However, there is one variety of sportsmen, the big game hunter, that may well mingle the pursuit of the web-footed amphibian with a season of pig sticking and wild goat hunting.

The game hunters of the garrison claim to have discovered a species of the water monster inhabiting the irrigation tanks on the Ewa plantation that is too large to be bagged with out a high power rifle. During the past month week-end hunting parties have been going out and killing a few of these beasts—two or three being considered sufficient of sport and provisions, in a day's kill, for a small party. It is true that certain scoffers claim to find more "bull" than frogs in what the nimrods bring home. Though not considered a really dangerous pastime, the more experienced hunters advise working in pairs in case of a sudden meeting with one of the monsters.

Spears or rifles may be used in this recreation, but stony nerves are required to deliver the coup while one's ears are ringing with the lion-like roars of the quarry.

COMPANY G WINS FIRST GAME OF PLAY-OFF SERIES

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, April 9.—The first game of the series to decide the tie for third place in the 1st Infantry League was played yesterday with the result that Company G handed Company E a drubbing in eight innings—score 9 to 2.

On the bases, the G Company team fairly made monkeys of the E team. A total of thirteen bases were piled by the Company G performers and it looked as though after reaching first, it was easy to steal second, third and home from the Company E crowd.

Mashaw's hitting was a feature of the game. This batter, who has hit like a Cobb throughout the regimental season, collected a single, a double and a three bagger, out of four times at the bat.

Brown, for the winning team, pitched an air-tight game throughout, allowing three scattered hits, and no bases on balls. But for the errors of his team mates, Brown would have had a shut-out.

Score by innings:
RHE
Company E 1 0 0 0 1 0 0 2 3 6
Company G 0 0 2 0 2 0 5 9 9 4
Batteries—Brown and Ballard for G; Debolt and Spitz for E. Three basehits, Mashaw. Two basehits, Mashaw. Sacrifice hits, Delaney and Sosnoski. Stolen bases, Judd 2, LaJune, Reed, Tanarsky 2, Mashaw 2, Brown, Lorbek 2, Dion and Sosnoski. Bases on balls, off Debolt 4. Struck out, by Brown 3, by Debolt 6. Umpires, York and Munson.

SPORT GOSSIP FROM EASTERN SPORT CENTERS

Decision of United States Not to Challenge For Davis Cup Is Applauded

[Associated Press]
NEW YORK, N. Y.—At Boston next week the amateur experts will have their annual court tennis tournament in which the one most proficient will earn the right to play the challenge match for the national honor with the nine times winner of the title, Jay Gould of the Philadelphia Racquet Club. Last year Gould, who was in great playing form, won the title of world's champion at this ancient game by defeating George F. Covey, the professional champion of England. Should he decide to defend his national honor again this year there does not seem to be much fear of his losing out as he is always a bit better than the best that can be sent against him.

Judging from the form displayed by Edgar E. Frank, the Pacific Northwest champion, during the eastern try-outs for A. A. U. wrestling champion-

M'LOUGHLIN AFTER HONORS.

National Champion Will Try Hard to Land Western Title and Several Cups on Which He Has Two Legs—Big Season in Store For Players.

The tennis world is confronted with two momentous facts this year which render predictions easy on one hand, while on the other there exists a doubt. The war has eliminated any possibility of the Davis cup matches, so it can be safely presumed that the foremost players in the country will participate in more tournaments than if they were forced to train for the international competitions. With this condition it is only necessary to glance over the country where the largest tournaments are held to discover which ones will attract the western players, Maurice E. McLoughlin, R. Lindley Murray, William Johnston, or such players of lesser ability as Ella Fottrell, Clarence Griffin and John Strachan.

When a player has won two legs on a challenge cup, valuable because of the many names engraved upon it, he is apt to consider pointing for the place where that tournament is held with the idea in mind of attempting to carry the prize away. At Lake Forest, just outside of Chicago, the western championships are held, usually late in July, and McLoughlin has won two legs on a challenge trophy there that the Onwentsia club donated to the Western Tennis association. The past two years he has been unable to participate in this tournament because of the international matches, but this year, on his way east to New York, it is fair to predict that he will stop off in Chicago and attempt to have his name placed for the third and last time on the time honored trophy.

Leaving Chicago, McLoughlin could arrive in good time to defend his title at Longwood, for the western championship and the Longwood tournament are generally held during successive weeks in July. After Longwood the New York state championship is held at Bay Ridge, but McLoughlin will likely rest that week and enter the Southampton tournament in preparation for the national championship in New York. McLoughlin is training at this present moment for the national title which he lost to R. N. Williams last year at Newport. No other tournaments will interfere with the "California Comet's" plans as concerns his physical and mental efficiency, which he knows will well must be at the highest standard during the progress of the national championship.

R. L. Murray will probably be the man selected by the Pacific Coast Tennis association to follow the same course laid down for McLoughlin. There is a likelihood that these men before many years may represent the country in doubles. At present McLoughlin, paired with T. C. Bundy, holds the national doubles title, but the latter player is hampered more each year by business engagements.

tion, which were held at the Madison Square Garden here two weeks ago, competitors for honors in the 125-pound class will experience some difficulty when any of them goes to the mat with him. Frank is a member of the Multnomah A. A. C., Portland, Ore., and during his stay here was a frequent visitor to the gymnasium of the New York Athletic Club. There his work against men from 20 to 30 pounds heavier, attracted the attention of the members and professionals alike. Frank seems to have mastered all the fine points of the game and all who saw him at the club predicted he would win handily in the tryouts. He acquitted himself cleverly, winning his three trial, semi-final and final bouts in masterly style and was by far the cleverest man in his own or any other class. George Bothner, the professional mat artist, who watched Frank during his tryouts, said: "That man waits for his opponent to come to him and uses excellent judgment. His combination of the 'head scissors' and 'bar lock' is irresistible. He is the finest looking wrestler of his weight that I have ever seen."

The decision of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association not to issue a challenge to Australasia this year for the Davis Cup, on account of the war, is applauded by the Antipodes generally as "sportsmanship of the highest degree." Had a challenger been forthcoming it would almost certainly have resulted in the United States recovering the trophy, because Australasia would have been without the services of the New Zealander, Anthony F. Wilding and the Australian Norman Brookes. Wilding is with the British army in Europe and Brookes, who is back in his home in Melbourne, has stated that he will not participate in any international contest during the war. Therefore Australasia in the event

At Chicago, pitted against 51 players, he won 48 games. Frank J.
